

Multibox

Every second counts

Firefighting equipment at your fingertips can be the difference between a few scorched trees and a full-scale forest fire

During hot and dry periods, there is a serious risk of wildfires. Moreover, a single spark can be enough to start one, in which case every second counts. Having fire extinguishing equipment close at hand can make all the difference between a few scorched trees and a full-scale wildfire. Komatsu's flexible Multibox is easily moved by a forwarder and can hold ten 9-litre foam fire extinguishers. When wildfire season has passed, the box can be used to store tools and machine accessories instead.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Greater peace of mind with fire extinguishers close at hand – early action makes all the difference.
- In the event of a forest fire, foam fire extinguishers are most effective as the foam spreads out and covers a larger area.
- Portable and easily transported – can be loaded on all Komatsu forwarders.
- Practical and flexible as it can be used for general storage as well as fire extinguishers.
